THE ROAR OF THE DRAGON

NIGHT FALLS IN MIAMI and dozens of automobiles gather in a remote corner of the city. On a night geared up for racing, all eyes are on a Nissan Skyline GT-R (R34) that emits a blue neon glare and snorts nitrous oxide vapor like a furious dragon. That Skyline GT-R, driven by the charismatic Brian O'Conner, became one of the stars of 2 Fast 2 Furious, the second movie in this legendary franchise. An invincible sports car - silver with blue stripes - is an obvious tribute to the speedy AC Cobras that challenged the Chevrolet Corvettes on the racetracks in the 1960s. Its pulsating journey around the streets of Miami is remembered excitedly by the fans of the series. Imported specially from Japan, this magnificent Nissan Skyline GT-R (R34) was tuned by Fast &Furious specialists to give it even more powerful extra features. It was fitted with a bodywork kit that improved the look of the front, a new set of 19-inch HRE 446 wheels, a rear spoiler and an impeccable exterior graphic design.

NISSAN SKYLINE GT-R (R34)

It is the indisputable star of some of the most memorable scenes in Universal Pictures' Fast & Furious franchise. A "thoroughbred" built in Japan for the thrill of speed and outstanding performance.

Speed and spectacle in its purest form!

THE SKYLINE GT-R (R34) was one of the most emblematic automobiles in the history of Nissan. Launched on the market in 1999, it was the sports version of the tenth-generation Skyline, a symbol of the success of Japanese engineering. Capable of competing with other far more expensive sports cars of the period, it has become one of the favorite cars of the fans of characterful automobiles, thanks to the ease with which the power of its engine can be noticeably increased with just a few slight modifications.
